WEEKLY GREETING

Life proceeds not by the burnishing up of existent ideals, but by the discovery of new and more vital ones.—Van Wyck Brooks.

Roosvelt

And they knew the Colonel was alive while he lived.—Battle Creek Enquirer.

We are going to miss the strong, courageous voice of Theodore Roosevelt, just as Lincoln was missed following the Civil War. We are going to miss his far-seeing statesmanship.—Port Huron Times.

When in need of a tonic this nation will continue to take doses of Colonel Roosevelt's thrilling Americanism. The spirit of his never-wavering patriotism will continue to animate Americans. This much of him will never die.—Detroit Journal.

Roosevelt was right The red flag has no place in this land of the free, where liberty and justice prevail. The war is over, but Roosevelt realized, as do thinking Americans everywhere, that we have many problems to solve, not the least of which is the undivided allegiance which we must demand in the future from those who live in America.—Port Huron Times.

He was so truly American that his traits, faults and virtues, were themselves national, and it may be said that millions saw in him the living reflection of their own soil. Physically courageous, instinctively scornful of the cowardly and hypocritical, democratic, fundamentally sound, he might be summed up, for his parts, in one word, "square." So the world admired him. Detroit News.

The good old designation "God's Acre," applies with rare aptness to the little cemetary near Oyster Bay wherein rests the body of Theodore Roosevelt. Little more than an acre is its area, it is untouched by art of the landscape gardener, and is as rugged as the character of the man. An old fashioned country burying place, void of pretentious monuments, it has been made historic ground.—Correspondence.

Delightful House Party

One of the most enjoyable and largely attended house parties of the many recent home social events in Carmel was that at the Hopper residence last Friday evening.

The commodious living-room—"the room of a hundred candles"—was converted into a charming and romantic dancing salon, and, with a three piece orchestra, young and old danced to their hearts' content. Refreshments were provided in the usual Hopper style

These were present:

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Hilliard, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Worthington, Mr. and Mrs. C. Van Kiper, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Leidig, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Overstreet, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hopper, Mrs. Charles Josselyn, Mrs. J. G. Hooper, Mrs. Grace Wickham.

Bonnie Hale, Alice Hilby, Grace Wickham, Ellen Harrington, Eleanor Phelps, Jefferies Morse, Katharine Cooke, Dorothy Summers, Margaret Nye, Hilda and Helen Hilliard, Elizabeth and Maryan Hopper, Marion and Charis Boke, Shelly and Lawrence Harthorne, Ursula Hooper.

About Books

WHAT THE BOYS READ

According to the Library War Service, light current fiction is what the soldiers and sailors in hospitals and demobilization camps read most. A list of the most popular writers includes: Rex Beach, Harry Leon Wilson, Zane Gray, O. Henry, Peter Kyne, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Stewart Edward White, Booth Tarkington, Mary Roberts Reinhart, Harold Bell Wright.

THE LATEST BOOKS

Among the very interesting titles in the local Book Shop, the following hold a prominent place:

The Winds of Chance, a romance of the gold rush days in Alaska, by Rex Beach.

The Magnificent Ambersons, the story of an American family, by Booth Tarkington.

Pieces of Eight, a narrative of buried treasure, by Richard La Gallienne.

The Soul of Susan Yellum, a delightful English tale, by Horace Annesley Vachell.

My Antonia, a love story of impulsive youth and careless courage, by Willa S. Cather.

The Flame That is France, translated by Van Wyck Brooks from the French of Henri Malherbe.

In the Heart of a Fool, a strong Kansas novel, by Wm. Allen White.

Walking Shadows, sea tales and others, by Alfred Noyes.

The Eyes of Asia, four vivid sketches by Rudyard Kipling.

Tales of War, wonderfully sharp-cut vignettes by Lord Dunsanay.

The Collected Poems of John Masefield.

The Addresses and Messages of Woodrow Wilson, including the address before going abroad.

The 1919 Official Automobile Book, standard road guide of California.

GOV. LYNCH URGES WEST TO LAST BIG LOAN DRIVE

To the Citizens of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District:

The Fifth "Victory" Liberty Loan is in sight. Let us thank God that it is not just the Fifth Loan. Victory means the end of the war, the end of loans, the dawn of peace and prosperity. It means that the market price of government bonds will soon stabilize at par or better. It also means that commercial, agricultural, and industrial affairs will stabilize, and that the Hun-inspired clamor will cease.

JAMES K. LYNCH
Governor, 12th Federal Reserve District

We were advised that the war would last through 1919, probably through 1920, so we were prepared for that; to have done less would have been suicide. We prepared to crush the Hun on his own ground, and he prudently quit. It cost us some money but it saved the lives of half a million of our men. Was money ever better spent?

Now we have bills to pay, promises to make good, our men to bring home. This will take from five to six billion dollars. Let us get ready and raise it. A big task, but the last, and therefore easy. All together, shoulder to shoulder, and the loan goes over!

The "Ninety-first" is the Pacific Coast Division; remember their achievement, and honor ourselves by living up to it.

JAMES K. LYNCH,
Governor, Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco; Chairman, Liberty Loan General Executive Board, Twelfth Federal Reserve District.

Red Cross Notes

The Home Service Department of the American Red Cross is working with the district officers of the Federal Board of Vocational Education in the interest of disabled soldiers. Home Service Sections in the Pacific Division are lending valuable aid to the men and their families by maintaining the morale of the family and sustaining the man's purpose to take vocational training; by helping to persuade the man and his family of the value of such training, and, in special instances, by supervising the handling of cases not yet eligible for vocational training, but which may become so.

The financial report of the American Red Cross for the year ending June 30, 1918, has been received from Washington. It presents a detailed statement of finances practically from the beginning of our entrance into the war. A statement will be issued as soon as it can be compiled bringing the figures up to January 1, this year, and covering the whole period of active hostilities. It has been the policy of the War Council to conduct the finances as an open book; there are no secrets; all details as to salaries, contracts, etc., are open to public scrutiny.
